

such dividend shall be deemed to have consented thereto, unless he shall immediately enter his dissent in writing on the minutes of the proceedings of the board, and give public notice to the stockholders that such dividend has been declared

Article 10. No director shall be entitled to receive any emolument for his services in excess of the amount now paid, unless the same shall have been allowed at a general meeting of the stockholders, and the directors shall make such compensation to the president for his extraordinary attendance at the bank as shall appear to them reasonable.

Article 11. The president and directors of the corporation may at any time call a general meeting of the stockholders for any purpose relative to the institution, giving at least six weeks' notice in a newspaper printed in Hagerstown, Washington county, and any number of stockholders owning not less than one-fifth of the stock of the corporation may at any time examine the books, papers and accounts of such corporation, or may apply to the said president and directors to call a general meeting of the stockholders for any purpose relative to the institution; and if the president and directors shall refuse to call such meeting, the said number of stockholders, owners of not less than the aforesaid number of shares, shall have power to call a general meeting of the stockholders, giving notice as aforesaid and specifying in such notice the objects of such meetings; and it is hereby made the duty of the president and directors of said bank, upon the application of any ten stockholders, for that purpose, to give such stockholders a full list of names of all the stockholders in said bank.

Article 12. Every cashier and other financial officers, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, shall be required to give bond to the satisfaction of the president and directors in such sum or sums as said president and directors may determine, with the condition for the faithful discharge of their duties.

Article 13. The lands, tenements and hereditaments which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold shall only be such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of its business, and such as shall have been bona fide mortgaged or conveyed to it by way of security or in satisfaction of debts contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sale upon judgments which shall have been obtained for such matter.

Article 14. That the corporation shall not deal or trade in anything except bills of exchange, promissory notes and bullion, or in the produce of their lands, or of such goods and
